

Convict Trash

Run 1751: 8th June 2020

Hare: Growsome - Ramsgate

Starters Gun

Another excellent roll up on a chilly evening. Visitors Hot Dick, Ice Box and Lyndsay rolled up early. In Lyndsay's case, literally as she had cycled to the run. Recently from Santiago, Lyndsay is now living at Monterey and was originally a 'Shire' girl.

Grenade wasn't far behind having chased early-arrivers Dundee and Bingo around the streets to see where they would park. QR and Slotcard, Dish, Taxing, Brockie and finally Venus arrived to join the Walkers. Tickle again braved the cold in Shorts and T-shirt as Goon kept long sleeves and his High-Viz vest on.

Run Report

Growsome's Gentle Generous Gallop

It looked like rain and Bingo was lamenting that she hadn't closed the rings on her watch and didn't close them yesterday either and if she didn't close them at least five times a week her virginity would be reinstated or something. So there was much studying of the radar, which looked as though there would be some heavy stuff coming and she was in a suicidal panic. Rabbit was fuming at the reporting in last week's trash that she was a walker rather than a hopper (rabbits only hop due to the structure of their limbs, which allows them to breed profusely but not run) and spewed forth her wrath on doddery old Dundee for some reason.

There was a large assembly again despite the promise of inclement weather and to assist the hare, who had experienced a traumatic week but still had accepted the job of not only setting the run but also feeding the group with delicious chilli beef and pasta dishes. Suppose I should accept that Scotch Mist assisted somehow as that's what women do (assist) very well.

Tonbridge Park was an excellent venue, with plenty of parking and covered seating in case of rain, which, gratifyingly, held off until the proceedings had finished. Unfortunately, it appeared that recent rains had created a reasonably large lake adjacent to the venue, which DoD decided to test, thinking it was really just a wet path and found the level at his entry was, in fact, up to his shin. Not content with embalming one foot, he then proceeded to check with the other foot as well, with, of course, the same result – they shoot horses don't they?

Bingo checked her watch and noticed the time for commencement of the main reason for being there was upon us and DoD and his little mate FFC (Fleet Footed Cameron) flew off to the next corner, heading left on Chuter Avenue (now this is the last time I intend to mention actual street names as I don't have the map and am too bloody lazy to look them up). An On Back on a side street allowed Banger, Hellismellher and Scotch Mist to take the lead before we took another left heading west to the edge of Scarborough Park.

Meandering through a track, Sir Les was showing his newfound athletic prowess by leading the pack to that road that runs from Rocky Point Road to Grand Parade and we became a bit confused until Blondie turned the map up the right way and sent us across the road into another park area. Back out on a street, heading east across Chuter again and down to and across Grand Parade to the boulevard, where Blondie decided to shortcut the back runners – Rabbit was hopping like crazy, taking the lead.

Back across Grand Parade again, Pig was breathing hard and trying to chat with anyone within earshot as we hit a check on a street that runs from Grand Parade to Chuter. DoD and FFC headed west looking for trail and were never sighted again, while the pack headed south, meandering through some back streets to a very welcome bucket, well stocked by Stopcock.

On On Anonymous.

Circle Up

RA's Report

Doc standing in for Cold Duck:

Ramsgate covers an area from Cook's river to Georges river; originally known as 7 Mile Beach, later changed to Lady Robinson's Beach.

Cook Park on the beach front of Botany Bay named after Samuel Cook who advocated it as a Public Pleasure Area. Where we are standing was originally Pat Moore's Swamp, later Scarborough Park.

South to the RSL called Tonbridge St Reserve and Rotary Park.

In the 2016 Census the 1114 residents were made up of 36.4% Born Overseas, 59.6% spoke English as a first language

Run Review

Rabbit gave her opinion of the Trail:

- A Good Run
- Lots of horizontal dancing (which run was she on?)
- A few good on-backs keeping the Pack together
- Rabbit managed to keep up to the rear of the running Pack (Say what?)
- A Lovely Bay run

8/10
