South Run Report

Porky Piggy's Pedestrian Plod

Another healthy pack was assembling on a cold night in the carpark of the leafy Shire Heights suburb of Engadine in anticipation of the normal Pig marathon encircling most of the suburb, which is about 20kms in circumference. Grewsome, once again, assumed TM duties, standing in for Bingo, who was a no show, being late back from a visit to her Dad in hospital.

But we were to be surprised as the Pack ambled out of the car park, turning right into Waratah, then left into Cambrai and an On Back, which sent us back to the Old Princes Highway, past Woolies, across Dernancourt to an On Back down a side lane that Dundee, who is writing this rubbish and lived in the joint for 47 years, knowing every bloody blade of grass, recognised as a dead end.

Back on the Old highway to a Check on the junction of the new highway, which SLAP thought was heading down that new one except it wasn't and we headed back along the Old one on the other side of the road to a lane that took us to the child care centre, where we spent a few minutes trying to find arrows that would take us back out onto Dernancourt again.

Cameron and Andrew were complaining of getting giddy as we'd travelled 3kms but hadn't been more than a couple of hundred metres from the venue at any time. Short 'N Curly was skipping along in the lead as we headed down the lane that leads to Aldi, then back up the lane that leads to Station Street, that runs down to the station and we did – run towards the station that is – before turning right on Dernancourt again.

Running past Duck's workabode, we headed down to the Preston Park and another Check on the corner of Engadine Ave. (what a quaint name). Dundee was checking in the wrong direction as SLAP found the arrows on the New one as he headed down towards the junction with the Old one (is everyone completely confused now and stopped reading?) and an On Back that sent everyone, except Dundee, who had shortcutted, into Cooper Park.

Sir Les, with his new bulging eyeball, took the lead through the park before exiting on Cooper Street, which the park was named after, then headed west down to the Old one, before crossing the roundabout and entering Woronora, heading North, Duck and SLAP had jumped the fence of the park were now in the lead as we headed down towards Bosco school.

A right into Waratah again sent us back up the hill and into the car park, completing the journey in 45 minutes and never being more than 750 metres from the start line. Well done Piggy, just a few arrows short of a ten.

On On Dundee.

East Run Report

Pagewood

The northerners all met at the top of the B2H3 hash grounds – gathering at the magnificent edifice that is the Royal Pagewood Hotel. The group of keen and excited walkers wended their way through the parklands, quiet suburban streets, and light industrial areas that abut the Bonnie Doon Golf Course in Pagewood.

We ventured into new areas, untrod by hashers and discovered only just a few of the many delights that Pagewood has to offer. The under-stated architecture, the quiet bushland, the clever use of traffic control islands (and other traffic flow control devices) kept the usually gabbling pack in awe, as we observed the wonders of town planning and how it had been applied to this little corner of Sydney.

Everything about this run was praiseworthy – we had perfect mid-winter weather (no rain and a crisp, cool air – ideal for walking), excellent parking location and availability, a willing pub offering a epicurean delicacies to satisfy even the most demanding palate and great company and companionship of the top group hashers.

Many thanks to Dish – great job!

And there's more from our East Pack ...

The pack arrived from the north (yes from over the Harbour Bridge), the south (yes south of the CBD), east (all the way from Coogee) and the west (the Hare) to assemble in the carpark of the Pagewood Hotel.

6.30pm sharp and off they ran with Tickle, sprinted after Spini and hurried to keep up with Taxing through the streets of Pagewood. Past Bonnie Doon Golf Course on Page Street where Blondie can be found many times a week. They then surveyed the city skyline with Goon on Donaldson Street and discussed the weather conditions with Icebox on Lang Avenue. Hannibal attempted to short cut at this point but was gently convinced to continue on.

After another little loop or two around more streets of Pagewood and into Mutch Park is where Doc led all through the Park and back to the Pub. Goldie has now discovered new areas of the Eastern suburbs just next to where she now works and Dish was more than happy all could sit and have a meal together at one table.

RA's Report

Engadine

Famous for:

- Nothing really. I work there, trust me, I'm not kidding.
- No Landmarks.
- No Heritage Buildings
- No famous people (apart from Dundee of course).
- Named after Engadin Valley in Switzerland. When I arrive in Engadine each morning for work, I always think to myself, wow, I feel like I'm in Switzerland!
- Sydney city dwellers would come to Engadine to camp in the late 1800's
- Probably only well-known feature is Boys Town, originally an orphanage, then a home for wayward boys. Thus is where Dundee was educated.
- In 2018' it was the first place in Australia to have a road built entirely with recycled material - plastic bags, printer cartridges & glass bottles.
- Average house price is $985k.

Pagewood

- Developed after WW1 to provide housing for returning troops.
- Originally called Monash Gardens, after Australian General Sir John Monash, who played a very large part in securing victory in WW1 for the Allies (google him - he's a Legend)
- Then changed to Pagewood, after a local counsellor, Fred Page.
- Home to famous film studio, "National studios" from 1935 to 1959 - produced many Famous Aussie movies - The Overlanders, Eureka Stockade, Robbery Under Arms, Smiley, and Summer of the 17th Doll, to name a few.
- Holden bought the site in 1959, and built cars there, as well WD & HO Wills produced Cancer Sticks there.
- Pagewood Pub famous for Ian "Turps" Turpie running the Trivia there until his passing in 2012 at age 68. His claim to fame was that his girlfriend in the 1960's was Olivia Newton John.
- Average house price $1.750 Million.
