Run 1807 – 25th October 2021

Grewsome – Hawkesbury Park Boat Ramp
Taren Point

Starters Gun

Grewsome welcomed everyone to the Run, our first together in some months, and in the Shire again, the only place to be.

Apparently Hannibal almost got lost travelling south, and had to refer to his GPS for direction.

And what a beautiful spot to start a run from with water views, and an ideal place also to keep in mind for a Home Cater complete with shelter, playground BBQ's and toilets.

Run Review by Merkin

The start was a little bit disappointing, as I thought Grewsome was going to take us out alongside the water, but by the time, we got going, we headed towards suburbia, past my Mum's place, an old caravan park, then along the Esplanade, and though some marshy land, then back across Forshaw Rugby Parkland, so sacred a place in Duck's mind that he got down and kissed the ground.

Dirty Weekend will have to kiss him in a few sore spots (Duck volunteered that his groin was sore)

Some more twists and turns, and pass the Taren Pt Bowling Club back to Hawkesbury Park.

A great run, worthy of 9 ½ out of 10.

RA's Report –

Taren Point

Nothing new to tell you about Taren Point as we have ran from here so many times.

In the past I have told you about:

- Old Fred Taren, who lived in the Swamps, which the Suburb was named after
- Captain Cook Bridge which opened in 1965, replacing an old Punt
- The Bowling Club which opened in 1956
- The whole area used to be a Swamp, including Sylvania Waters Swamp

- My first Footy Team was the Taren Point Rugby League Club – Under 10's
- Average House Price $2M+

Birthday - Blondie

Next Weeks' Run      Hare - Goon      Venue - TBA

Prickette

Doc nominated Blondie – she had the car cleaned and then parked it under the Banksia tree, and was trying to lock it with the other car's remote.

Dirty Weekend nominated Slotcard for not passing the meals around at the Chinese restaurant.

Pig nominated Slotcard for being noisy on a Zoom meeting.

Prick

Cold Duck nominated Ringless - he came to the brewery with a head of grey hair, looked like Einstein

Dirty Weekend nominated Ringless for something (couldn't hear)
