Run 1530

Dundee's Loftus Lament

Selecting the one clear period of the day I was convinced the rain wouldn't reappear & set out to mark the run for my annual bush bash through the wilds of the Loftus hinterland. Alas, climbing the mountain at the back end of the process, the heavens opened & the track became a raging river, taking everything in its wake, including your luckless scribe, who managed to cling to a passing branch for safety.

Thus, dear friends, the annual bush bash became Dundee's Dawdle from the rearranged meeting in the pub to Loftus station & back via the Sutherland Bike Track. Runners included, Pig, Bingo, Merkin, Doubya, Goon, Tickle, Cold Duck, Loan Arranger, QR, Sir Les & the writer, there was also a large pack of walkers, can't remember who or how many but counted 27 at the circle so, by method of deduction, probably 16 of them - amazing considering the conditions.

As it turned out the Dawdle was longer than the bush bash, measuring 4.8kms by my GPS, &, as is usual for Monday night hash runs, remained dry for the duration. I'm most grateful for those making an appearance, which became an enjoyable evening.

Circle Report

Hannibal called the rabble to order & immediately passed the baton to Bingo to perform the last rites to the run.

Run Report

Bingo began by suggesting the run should be called the Sutherland Soaked Saunter, which was considered reasonable as it kept the pack together. Pig suggested the only reason the pack was kept together was because she stopped to await everyone to catch her. Then she said something about a Hymn run whatever that is but it crossed a railway line - actually it used the walkway over Loftus station - & didn't have any bush, which was a bit disappointing considering it was listed as a bush bash & gave it 7.5 out of 10.

Visitors: - Josephine, I think her last run before returning to Northern England as Hannibal so eloquently suggested & Brazilian & entourage, who were playing games in the car.

Athletes: - None

Birthdays: - Merkin, who intended to celebrate for the next 12 months.

Prickette and Prick nominations

Bingo was nominated by Pig for suggesting the run kept the pack together.

Josephine was nominated by Dirty Weekend for something that was quite funny but I couldn't keep up with her banter because I was laughing so ask her if you want to know.

Brazilian was nominated by Holeproof for walking around with the label still attached to her tights. I think she bought them from Saks on 5th. Avenue & wanted to show everyone.

Dundee was nominated by someone for something or other but I wasn't interested & neither was anyone else so it was superfluous.

Pseudo was nominated by Holeproof for forgetting his jacket before he flew out to London. He was at the airport at the time so she had to drive home to get it. He also forgot his KY Jelly but she reckoned he didn't need that in England.

QR was nominated by Bingo for his media savvy by suggesting something had gone feral (think he meant viral).

QR was also nominated by Goon, who suggested he looked better in Spini's pants than she does, which makes me worry about Goon's existence when she makes a reappearance.

Pricks – Holeproof & QR
